The Nuts and Bolts of Collaboration

9:30-10:00 Registration

10:00-10:15 Welcome and Introduction

10:15-11:00 First Session

“The South Carolina Digital Library: Collaborative Digitization”

Description: Kate Boyd (South Carolina Digital Library Program Director), Emily Gore (Assistant Director for the SCDL Upstate Region), and John White (Assistant Director for the SCDL Low Country Region) will discuss the ins and outs of large-scale collaborative digitization projects. The South Carolina Digital Library is a statewide project that includes South Carolina’s schools, libraries, archives, museums, and other cultural heritage institutions. The panel will discuss the benefits of creating partnerships, and will conclude with a question and answer session.

11:15-11:45 Business Meetings

12:00-1:00 Lunch & Speaker

“The Evidence of Things Not Seen: Preserving the History of USC’s Forgotten Neighbors”

Dr. Donaldson explores the history, memory, and “living past” of African American communities in Columbia, South Carolina, emphasizing how archival collections enhance how he teaches history. His talk will highlight his service learning courses working with primary research, focusing on the complicated narrative of race relations in the American South. Students collaborate with community members and neighborhood organizations to help them reclaim and preserve black history in Columbia.

1:15-2:00 Afternoon Session

“Cooperative Ventures, Easy On Your Pocketbook”

This session is a panel discussion about current collaborative efforts and ideas for the future. Panelists include Suzanne Case, a founding member of the Consortium of Upstate South Carolina History (CUSCH), John M. Sherrer of the Fall Line Consortium and Historic Columbia, Marie Ferrara, Chair of PALMCOP, Brooke Fox, Chair of the Charleston Archives, Libraries and Museums (CALM) group and Libby Young, the current President of SCLA. All of these groups emphasize collaboration and cooperation, sharing resources to protect and promote collections while saving money. We hope you join this panel for the insights they offer.

2:15-3:00 Last Session

“Relaxing Into Stress”

Join Diane Barnes, M.Ed., Owner/ Director MindBody Health here in Columbia, SC for a great session on relaxation! In these stressful times we all can use some hints on unwinding and dealing with our stress. Collaborations can help ease your stress and we hope you’ll take the information learned from this session and share it with all of your coworkers.
